

It has not been proved that cell phone usage during flight does not interfere with navigational equipment. Also, cell phone usage will allow terrorist to coordinate plans of attack. Cell phone use will also make an already tense environment more stressful. Finally, NPRM will leave it up to the flight attendant to police the use of cell phones onboard the aircraft, compromising our ability to maintain a safe, secure cabin environment and conduct emergency evacuations.